Announcing the Standard for

CODES FOR THE IDENTIFICATION OF FEDERAL AND FEDERALLY-ASSISTED ORGANIZATIONS

\(The Foreword, Abstract, and Key Words can be found at the end of this document.)

Federal Information Processing Standards Publications (FIPS PUBS) are issued by the National Bureau of Standards in accordance with section 111 (f) (2) of the Federal Property and Administrative Services Act of 1949, as amended, Public Law 89-306 (79 Stat 1127), Executive Order 11717 (38 FR 12315, dated May 11, 1973), and Part 6 of Title 15 Code of Federal Regulations.

1. Name of Standard: Codes for the Identification of Federal and Federally-Assisted Organizations, (FIPS PUB 95-1).

2. Category of Standard: Data Standard, Representations and Codes.

3. Explanation: This Standard provides a four-character identifier for each organization listed. The set of identifiers defines a standard data element. The two leftmost characters form a component data element which is identical with the two-digit numerical code used in the Federal budgetary process to identify major Federal organizations. This component, designated as the Treasury Agency Symbol (TAS), is maintained by the U.S. Department of the Treasury. This standard supersedes FIPS PUB 95 in its entirety.

The purposes of data element standardization are to eliminate unnecessary duplications and incompatibilities in the collection, processing, and dissemination of data, and to maximize the usefulness of data resources. The use of data referenced to a standard set of representations or codes reduces collection costs by allowing previously collected data to be applied to new uses, and provides a potential for benefits derived from those additional applications. Standardization also reduces conversion costs for interchange of data between databases, and reduces costs of data element maintenance by the implementation of a single, maintained standard to replace separately maintained elements.

4. Approving Authority: The Secretary of Commerce.

5. Maintenance Agency: Governments Division, Bureau of the Census, Washington, DC 20233. Federal departments and independent agencies are invited to assist in the maintenance of this Standard by submitting copies of newly implemented tables of organization that affect any listing. Such changes should be submitted to the National Institute of Standards and Technology (NIST), Room B151, Technology Building, Gaithersburg, MD 20899.

Change notices to this FIPS PUB will be issued by NIST. Users who wish to receive such notices should complete the Change Request Form included in this FIPS PUB and return it to the address indicated.

6. Cross Index: None.

7. Applicability: This standard applies to data interchange among executive departments and independent agencies and for Federal data interchange with the non-Federal sector including industry, State, local, and other Governments, and the public at large.

This standard data element may be used for the interchange of information on Federal operations when that information is identified by organization. Information interchanged may concern, for example: number of personnel employed, value of contracts and grants issued, value of services of an identical type received from a single source, inventoried quantity of a particular item, and value and identity of property managed or controlled. The data element need not be used to record information on Federal operations of unlisted, lower-level organizations. The data element may be used if lower-level data are aggregated to the level of organizations identified in the Standard.

This standard data element also may be used for interchange of identification codes assigned to a set of similar items, but only if an organizational indication is included as part of the coding structure. Examples of sets of items which could employ organizational-indicative identification codes are: the set of identities of Federal reports and computer programs that are available for public use or distribution, the set of identities of domestic assistance programs for which a prospective recipient might apply, and the set of identities of grants and contracts awarded. If organizational identification is used but is not fully appropriate below the first level, then only the two leftmost characters of the standard data element (the TAS) should be used. Agencies may wish to use the Standard in applications other than those suggested above. However, this standard is not intended for the replacement of U.S. Department of the Treasury agency location and appropriation fund account codes.

8. Implementation Schedule: This Standard became effective December 1, 1982. Use by Federal agencies is encouraged when such use contributes to operational benefits, efficiency, or economy.

9. Specifications: Federal Information Processing Standard 95-1 (FIPSPUB95-1), Codes for the Identification of Federal and Federally-Assisted Organizations (affixed).

10. Where to Obtain Copies. Copies of this publication, printed or microfiche, are for sale by the National Technical Information Service (NTIS), U.S. Department of Commerce, Springfield, VA 22161. When ordering, refer to Federal Information Processing Standards Publication 95-1(FIPSPUB95-1) and title. Payment may be made by check, money order, or NIST deposit account.

Specifications forCODES FOR THE IDENTIFICATION OF FEDERAL
AND FEDERALLY-ASSISTED ORGANIZATIONS*1. Name of Standard: Codes for the Identification of Federal and Federally Assisted Organizations.2. Category of Standard: Data Standard, Representations and Codes. 3. Explanation: This Standard provides a four-character identifier for each organization listed. The set of identifiers defines a standard data element. The major set of categories used to distinguish groups of organizations in this Standard is the following:

- Legislative Branch
- Judicial Branch
- Executive Office and Departments (and their Associated Organizations),
- Other Independent Federal and Quasi-Federal Organizations (and their Associated Organizations),
- Independent Federal-State and Interstate Organizations, and
- International Organizations.

Organizational structure is described and encoded in this Standard in a manner consistent with the budgetary structure of the U.S. Government. Consistency with the budgetary structure has been maintained in order to permit the adoption, in every case, of the two-digit numerical code used in the budgetary process to identify most first-level, independent Federal organizations. This coding system is maintained by the U.S. Department of the Treasury. Designated as the Treasury Agency Symbol (TAS), it serves as the two leftmost characters of the organization code used in this Standard.

All first-level organizations in each of the above categories are listed in this Standard. A first-level organization is not subsumed hierarchically under any other organization. Second-level organizations are included with the Executive Office, executive departments, and certain other major agencies. Third and lower-level organizations are included only in the Department of Defense and in special situations in other departments. Second, third, and lower-level organizations are always subsumed hierarchically under a next-higher-level organization.

In this Standard, an "independent" organization is defined as having both hierarchical independence and budgetary independence, i.e., it is first-level (hierarchical independence) and has a budget which is not subsumed by or connected in a subsidiary manner with the budget of another organization (budgetary independence). An "associated" organization is first-level, but has no budgetary independence. The five types of associated organizations are:

- Associated Federal Organizations, which are Federal agencies or their ancillary units such as advisory committees; they are often included as part of the independent organizations to which they are related;
- Associated Federal-State Organizations, which are associated organizations in which the Federal Government and one or more States participate jointly;
- Government-Sponsored Enterprises, which are so identified in a separate section of the Budget of the United States Government, Appendix (referred to as The Budget;;
- Federally Aided Organizations, which are domestic and non-Federal, and are identified in The Budget as receiving some form of financial support such as a direct payment, loan guarantee, line of credit, or stock purchase arrangement; and
- International Organizations, identified in The Budget or in the Department of State's annual report of United States Contributions to International Organizations as organizations in which the Federal Government serves as a financial contributor.

A "quasi-Federal" organization is an organization that is listed as "quasi-official" in the U.S. Government Manual and is also assigned its own unique TAS code by the U.S. Department of the Treasury. An "interstate" organization included in this Standard is Federally-assisted but differs from a Federal-State organization in that it involves no Federal participation.

Associated organizations and organizations below first level usually carry the same TAS as the independent, first-level organization with which they are connected. Organizations having the same TAS are distinguished from each other by the two rightmost characters of the identifier. These characters are alphanumeric although numeric characters are being used at this time in most cases. The system used for assignment of the two rightmost characters of the identifier is explained below in paragraph 6. Special Information.

4. Specifications: Table of Organizations and Codes:

4.1 Part A: Arrangement by Hierarchical and Budgetary Relationship

In this part, names of first-level organizations are presented immediately to the right of the assigned codes without an indentation.

Second-level organizations are listed immediately below the first-level organization to which they report and are indented further to the right. Second-level organizations which subdivide a first-level organization form a complete, non-duplicative set, i.e., each employee of the first-level organization can be assigned to one and only one second-level entry.

Third and lower-level organizations are indented further to the right than their respective next-higher level entries; and they are listed immediately below the entry which they subdivide. Third and lower-level entries, similarly, form a complete, non-duplicative set.

At any level for which entries are provided, some subdivisions may not be individually identified. Those divisions not specifically listed are included by implication, as in "Office of the Assistant Secretary for Health except National Centers."

Each domestic, associated organization is listed with the independent organization with which its financial or administrative support is connected. International organizations are listed in a separate section.

4.2 Part B: Arrangement by Alphabetic Sequence of Organizations

4.3 Part C: Arrangement by Alphanumeric Sequence of Assigned Codes

5. Qualifications: Non-Federal organizations which receive no assistance identified in the Federal budget were excluded from the basic standard. Users desiring a compatible code assignment to an initially excluded organization have two alternatives. Users may assign their own four-character code, preferably with a letter as the leftmost character to avoid possible conflict with the numerical TAS, or they may forward a written request to NIST, Room B151, Technology Building, Gaithersburg, MD 20899, for a formal assignment of a code. Requests should include an explanation of the application requiring the assignment. NIST will forward requests to the maintenance agency and will issue change notices as appropriate.

6. Special Information: The coding structure in this Standard is based on the establishment of four active classes of TAS codes. The assignments of the two rightmost characters of the identifier differ in each of the classes, and are described below.

- Defense TAS Codes

The following TAS codes are used to identify component organizations of the Department of Defense:

- 17: Department of the Navy;
- 21: Department of the Army;
- 57: Department of the Air Force;
- 84: U.S. Soldiers' and Airmen's Home;
- 96: U.S. Corps of Engineers--(civil); and
- 97: Department of Defense as a whole and components, other than the military department, reporting to the Secretary of Defense.

Values of the two rightmost characters of the identifier for all component organizations of the Department of Defense (DoD) are received from the Directorate for Information Resources Management Systems, Office of the Assistant Secretary of Defense (Comptroller). DoD assigns their own codes, usually alphabetic (can be numeric).

- Joint-Use TAS Codes

Several non-Defense, independent organizations share certain TAS codes. These organizations are fully distinguished at the first level by the third and fourth characters of the identifier. The TAS codes in this class, and their applications, are:

- 00: Senate and House of Representatives;
- 09: Smaller Legislative Agencies;
- 10: Judicial Agencies;

- 46: Independent Federal-State and Interstate Organizations (excepting Advisory Commission on Intergovernmental Relations);
- 48: Temporary Study Commissions;
- 76: Historical and Memorial Agencies; and
- 95: Other Independent Organizations Not Assigned Unique TAS Codes.

Values of the two rightmost characters for independent agencies in this TAS class are in the range 01 through 59. For values of the two rightmost characters for associated organization in this TAS class, see below under "Single-Use TAS Codes."

- TAS Code 11: Executive Office of the President/Funds Appropriated to the President

The Executive Office of the President is assigned identifier 1100 and agencies within the Office are assigned identifiers in the range of 1101 through 1130. The office of the Vice President is assigned 1160.

Agencies that come under the "Funds Appropriated to the President" (FAP) in the Federal Budget also are assigned TAS code 11. Currently, two different ranges are used for the two rightmost characters for these FAP agencies. Agencies that are international in scope, such the Multilateral Development Banks, are assigned alphabetic characters consistent with other international agencies. Other FAP agencies such as the Peace Corps are assigned numerics the two rightmost characters. These currently range from 31 to 62.

Users should note two exceptions about FAP agencies. First, the International Development Corporation Agency (IDCA) is assigned identifier 1150 and its second level organizations assigned identifiers in the range 1151 to 1159. The IDCA is related to the Overseas Private Investment Corporation, but the latter retains TAS code 71, even though it is listed in the Federal Budget as an FAP agency. Thus, the IDCA does not include OPIC in this standard. Secondly, not all FAP accounts found in the Federal Budget have a FIPS 95 code assignment. FIPS 95 is an organizational code set, and does not automatically include all fiscal activities represented in Budget accounts.

For values of the two rightmost characters of the identifier for associated organizations using TAS code 11, see below under "Single-Use TAS Codes."

This class of TAS codes includes all codes that are active (i.e., in current use) and not identified above in another class. As implied in the class name, an independent organization using a TAS code in this class does not share that TAS code with any other independent organization. Second-level, third-level, and associated organizations may be included in this class and will use the same TAS codes as their respective independent organizations.

For each TAS code in this class, the two rightmost characters of the identifier are available to be assigned as follows, if an organization with the appropriate name is separately identified:

- 00: organization as a whole (always present);
- 01: office of the chief executive and any staff functions not separately identified;
- 02: office of the deputy chief executive;
- 03: office of the general counsel or equivalent;
- 04: office of the inspector general;
- 05: office of administration or management, if no "planning" or "policy" functions are included in the name;

06: office of policy, evaluation, or program analysis, including any "budget" functions not included in "administration" or "management";

07: office of Congressional and legislative affairs; may include public or intergovernmental affairs if not separately identified;

08: office of public affairs, if identified separately from Congressional and legislative affairs;

09: office of international affairs;

10 through 29: other staff offices; 20 through 59: programmatic or line organizations, and all of their separately identified, lower-level components;

60 through 69: Associated Federal Organizations;

70 through 79: Associated Federal-State Organizations;

80 through 89: Government-Sponsored Enterprises;

90 through 99: Federally-Aided Organizations; and

AA through ZZ: International Organizations.

For the assignment of the two rightmost characters to international organizations, groupings of such organizations have been established. The third character of the identifier is the same for each organization in a group. This permits recognition of an identifier as pertaining to a particular group. For example, inter-American organizations have the two rightmost characters of their identifiers in the range AA through AZ; international fisheries organizations are assigned the range FA through FZ, while United Nations and affiliated agencies are assigned the range UA through UZ. This procedure for assigning the two rightmost characters of the identifier is used for each international organization, regardless of the TAS code assigned to the organization.

If expansion of the coding structure is required due to saturation, the fourth or rightmost character of the identifier will be converted to an alphanumeric for staff, line, and domes associated organizations under Single-Use TAS Codes. Then, more identifiers for these type of organizations would be available. For example, in this expansion, the two rightmost characters of identifiers for line organizations under Single-Use TAS Codes could include code 2A through 5Z as well as 20 through 59, while the two rightmost characters for associated Federal organizations could include codes 6A through 6Z as well as 60 through 69. This expansion could apply, in a similar fashion, to the coding structure for domestic organization under TAS code 11 or the Joint-Use TAS Codes.

Foreword

The Federal Information Processing Standards Publication Series of the National Bureau of Standards (NBS) is the official publication relating to standards, guidelines, and documents adopted and promulgated under the provisions of Public Law 89-306 (Brooks Act) and under Part 6 of Title 15, Code of Federal Regulations. These legislative and executive mandates have given the Secretary of Commerce important responsibilities for improving the utilization and management of computers and automatic data processing in the Federal Government. To carry out the Secretary's responsibilities, the NBS, through its Institute for Computer Sciences and Technology, provides leadership, technical guidance, and coordination of Government efforts in the development of standards, guidelines and documents in these areas.

Comments concerning Federal Information Processing Standards Publications are welcomed and should be addressed to the Director, Institute for Computer Sciences and Technology, National Bureau of Standards, Gaithersburg, MD 20899.

James H. Burrows, Director

Institute for Computer Sciences and Technology

Abstract

This standard provides a four-character identifier for each organization listed. The two leftmost characters form a component data element, called the Treasury Agency Symbol (TAS), which is identical to the two-digit numerical code used in the budgetary process to identify major Federal agencies. Organizations that are related by a common budgetary appropriation usually have the same TAS code. Organizations identified in this Standard include legislative, judicial, and executive branch agencies, as well as those Federal-State, interstate, and international organizations that receive budgetary support. This standard is an organizational code set, and does not automatically include all fiscal activities represented in Budget accounts. Government-sponsored enterprises and certain Federally aided organizations are included also. Provision is made for the inclusion of additional categories of organizations.

Key words: administration; codes; computers; data; element; Federal Information Processing Standards; Information interchange; organization.
