

A photograph of two sailors in dress uniform standing in a cemetery. The sailor on the left is saluting with his right hand. The sailor on the right is also saluting with his right hand. They are standing in front of a large, circular wreath made of green leaves and white flowers, which is supported by a metal stand. To the right of the wreath is a large American flag on a pole. In the background, there are several other people in uniform, some in red jackets, and a large, dark stone building with arched windows. The ground is covered with fallen leaves.

*Any Moment Could Be
"Dying Time" for One of Our Servicemen or Women.*

*Did You Do Anything
Today to Keep Them Safe?*

Photo by: Chai Simon, USMC

